Welcome to the Millard Public Schools!

We are pleased that you've chosen to student teach in our nationally recognized school district and we are grateful for the opportunity to contribute to your success in your preparation for becoming a professional educator.

You are about to embark on one of the most important undertakings of your college career. Be prepared to work hard, learn a lot, and reflect on your experiences. THE MORE TIME, ENERGY, AND PASSION YOU PUT INTO YOUR ROLE AS A STUDENT TEACHER, THE MORE REWARDING THE EXPERIENCE WILL BE!

All those directly connected with your student teaching assignment; the Co-Teacher, the College Supervisor, the School Principal and the Human Resources Department, will offer you support and encouragement. The rest is up to you!

Good luck and never under estimate the impact you have on your students, each and every one of them!

Sincerely,

Dr. Kevin Chick

Associate Superintendent of Human Resources

Millard Public Schools Co-Teaching Student Teaching Guidelines for Teacher Candidates

CO-TEACHING STUDENT TEACHING MODEL

Student teaching is the culmination of the teacher education program and is one of the most important experiences you will have in the preparation for teaching. As a world-class school district, Millard Public Schools strives to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality staff dedicated to achieving its mission and objectives. One way to accomplish this is by utilizing the Co-Teaching Student Teaching Model, which is a systemic process of shared responsibility for teaching and learning.

The Co-Teaching Student Teaching Model provides a comprehensive and rigorous experience for Teacher Candidates, allows Cooperating Teachers the ability to remain actively engaged in the classroom, and enhances the quality of learning for students. Research indicates that students taught in classrooms using the Co-Teaching Student Teaching Model benefit academically from having 2 teachers in the classroom. As Cooperating Teachers and Teacher Candidates work together with groups of students and share responsibility for planning, instruction, assessment, and learning environment, ultimate responsibility for the classroom remains with the Cooperating Teacher.

Before the student teaching experience begins the Teacher Candidate, Cooperating Teacher, and University/College Supervisor participate in MPS provided training to facilitate the relationship among the triad members, identify roles of each member, and learn the seven strategies of Co-Teaching:

One Teach/One Observe

One Teach/One Assist

Station Teaching

Parallel Teaching

Supplemental Teaching

Alternative/Differentiated Teaching

Team Teaching

This foundational training sets the stage for the Co-Teaching environment that allows collaborative planning, teaching, and assessment to begin early in the student teaching experience. Teacher Candidates are actively engaged with students on the first day. Teacher Candidates can expect to engage in Co-Teaching approximately 80% of the time and solo teaching approximately 20% of the time. The emphasis on Co-Teaching prepares Teacher Candidates to collaborate with the other professionals who work alongside classroom teachers.

ATTENDANCE & PARTICIPATION

The Co-Teaching Model fosters the sharing of planning, instruction, and assessment while preparing the Teacher Candidate to take the lead in each of these areas.

The Teacher Candidate is expected to be present and on time during all teacher contract days as well as required building/District activity time outside of regular school hours. This would include parent-teacher conferences, open houses, curriculum nights, etc. This is in addition to attending courses required by the teacher training institution during the Millard Public Schools term of student teaching.

In case of illness and/or absence, Teacher Candidates should notify the Cooperating Teacher(s) and the Building Administrator as far in advance as possible. Absences for any reason other than personal illness must be cleared in advance with the Cooperating Teacher and the University/College Supervisor.

Activities

Teacher Candidates are expected to participate in certain out-of-class activities as directed by the Cooperating Teacher and/or University/College Supervisor. These activities are designed to better acquaint the Teacher Candidate with the school environment, increase understanding of the total teaching experience, and facilitate working with students in a variety of settings. These activities may include supervising study halls, assisting with clubs, attending PTO/PTA meetings and/or attending extra-curricular activities.

Meetings

Teacher Candidates will attend professional staff meetings as this provides unique opportunity for professional growth.

1. Attendance at staff meetings is required in the school in which the Teacher Candidate is teaching (during the period of time he/she is on duty).
2. Attendance at Professional Learning Community (PLC) meetings is required in the school in which the Teacher Candidate is teaching and at building and District meetings.
3. The Teacher Candidate is expected to accompany his/her Cooperating Teacher to building and District staff development.

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

Teacher Candidate

The Teacher Candidate in the Millard Public Schools has the opportunity to partner with an experienced teacher and positively impact the lives of students in a high achieving school district. It is important for the Teacher Candidate to make the best possible use of this opportunity. The conduct of the Teacher Candidate during this experience reflects on the individual and on the teacher training institution. Teacher Candidates should come ready to learn, willing to ask questions, and be open to feedback with an emphasis on reflective practices.

Along with the focus on teaching and learning in the classroom, the Teacher Candidate should become acquainted with the total program of the school, including services such as guidance, media, and special education provided by Millard Public Schools.

Cooperating Teacher

The Cooperating Teacher is an experienced teacher who has been chosen because of the knowledge, skill, and disposition he/she possesses for teaching and learning. The Cooperating Teacher sets high expectations for students, self, and colleagues while providing reflective feedback that fosters growth. The Cooperating Teacher is ultimately responsible for all aspects of the teaching and learning environment.

University/College Supervisor

As an advocate for the Teacher Candidate, the University/College Supervisor is expected to be consistently present during the student teaching experience. The University/College Supervisor will communicate teacher training program information, guidelines, and requirements to the Cooperating Teacher and Teacher Candidate during observation visits and will provide ongoing feedback throughout the student teaching experience.

Co-Teaching Partnership

With support of the University/College Supervisor the Co-Teaching partnership enables Cooperating Teachers to provide consistent mentoring, giving Teacher Candidates the time and support necessary to gain skills and confidence.

Planning

The Teacher Candidate and Cooperating Teacher will share decisions on:

- What content to teach
- What Co-Teaching strategies to use
- Who will lead different lesson parts
- How to assess student learning
- What materials and resources to use

Instruction

While Co-Teaching, the Teacher Candidate and Cooperating Teacher will:

- Share leadership in the classroom
- Work with all students
- Use a variety of Co-Teaching strategies
- Manage the classroom together
- Make changes as needed during a lesson

Assessment

While Co-Teaching, the Teacher Candidate and Cooperating Teacher will:

- Both participate in the assessment of student learning
- Share the responsibility of daily grading
- Provide formative and summative assessment of students
- Jointly determine grades

Professionalism

During the Co-Teaching experience, the Teacher Candidate and Cooperating Teacher will collaboratively:

- Engage in practices to promote self-reflection to improve teaching and learning
- Communicate and collaborate with parents, colleagues, and other stakeholders in a professional manner

Together, the Cooperating Teacher, Building Administrator, University/College Supervisor, and Millard Public Schools strive to provide the best possible experience to guide the Teacher Candidate to fully develop his/her potential for becoming an excellent teacher. In return, the Teacher Candidate has the responsibility to extend maximum effort during the student teaching experience and embrace all opportunities to learn.

MPS Teacher Candidate and Cooperating Teacher Suggested Timeline

Prior to Beginning the Student Teaching Experience

- Attend MPS Co-Teaching Student Teaching Model Training for the Teacher Candidate, Cooperating Teacher, and University/College Supervisor. This training will foster the Co-Teaching team relationship and develop common understanding of the Millard Public Schools Co-Teaching Student Teaching Model. Training components include:
 - Co-Teaching Background
 - Roles of Participants
 - Defining Co-Teaching Strategies
 - Creating the Co-Teaching Environment
 - Relationship Building
 - Collaboration and Communication
 - Co-Planning with Co-Teaching
 - Team Development

During the Student Teaching Experience

- Plan a minimum of one time per week
- Provide regular, specific feedback
- Lesson plans need to identify Co-Teaching strategy(ies) being used
- Use all seven Co-Teaching strategies a minimum of two times each
- Provide for independent “solo” teaching time
- Complete and review mid-term reflection

At the completion of the Student Teaching Experience

- Complete and review final reflection

COOPERATING TEACHERS

Thank you for agreeing to serve as a Cooperating Teacher this semester. Please consider the following as you work to develop a relationship with and orient your Teacher Candidate to your school and classroom.

Welcoming Your Teacher Candidate

Before the Experience Begins

- ☐ Arrange to meet with your Teacher Candidate before the official start of the experience.
- ☐ Post the Teacher Candidate's name along with your name in the classroom.
- ☐ Provide a desk or designated work area for the Teacher Candidate with supplies and copies of necessary materials and textbooks.
- ☐ Send a note home to families to let them know you will have a Teacher Candidate Co-Teaching with you.

In the Beginning

- ☐ Introduce your Teacher Candidate to other faculty members, support personnel, and administrators.
- ☐ Tour the school (e.g. staff work areas, the lounge, adult restrooms, etc.).
- ☐ Help your Teacher Candidate learn student names quickly.
- ☐ Review items in the faculty and student handbooks that directly impact your Teacher Candidate (e.g. the contractual day, dress code, issues related to school security, grade reporting procedures, parent communication, etc.).
- ☐ Share "bits of information" that matter: "There is a peanut-free table in the cafeteria" or "Staff members don't park in Lot A."
- ☐ Explain staff activities or special events your Teacher Candidate could choose to attend.
- ☐ Discuss classroom rules and expectations for student behavior as well as acceptable rewards and consequences. Review the student handbook.
- ☐ Assemble a binder with useful information including class lists, daily schedules, classroom rules, discipline plan, discipline referral form, etc.
- ☐ Mark important dates on a desk-top calendar or planner (e.g. faculty meetings, hall duty, school wide music program etc.).
- ☐ Start a file with your favorite activities and good teaching ideas. Encourage your Teacher Candidate to add to it throughout the student teaching experience.

Throughout the Experience

- ☐ Leave an inspirational quote or article related to teaching on your Teacher Candidate's desk.
- ☐ Make gestures of kindness – no matter how small, they have a positive impact.
- ☐ Reflect on the Co-Teaching process. Periodically review the checklist (next page), "Are We Co-Teachers?"
- ☐ Follow evaluation guidelines and forms to provide timely and relevant feedback to your Teacher Candidate.

Are We Co-Teachers? Reflection Tool

As we prepare for Co-Teaching, do we:

- ☐ Have both teachers' names on the posted?
- ☐ Have space for both teachers?
- ☐ Have comparable desks and materials for both teachers?

Do we share the responsibility for determining:

- ☐ What to teach?
- ☐ What teaching strategy(ies) to use?
- ☐ Who teaches which part of the lesson?
- ☐ How to assess student learning?

When planning, do we:

- ☐ Meet at regularly scheduled times to discuss our work?
- ☐ Use our meeting time productively?
- ☐ Share teaching materials and resources?
- ☐ Communicate freely our concerns?
- ☐ Each contribute to the planning process?
- ☐ Decide which Co-Teaching strategy(ies) to use in a lesson based on the needs of the students.

While Co-Teaching, do we:

- ☐ Both have a lead role in the classroom?
- ☐ Both work with all students?
- ☐ Use a variety of Co-Teaching approaches?
- ☐ Encourage students to see us as equal partners in the classroom?
- ☐ Both participate in the assessment of the students?
- ☐ Encourage students to ask both of us for clarification and/or assistance?
- ☐ Teach different groups of students simultaneously?
- ☐ Read the nonverbal cues of our Co-Teaching partner?
- ☐ Make necessary changes during a lesson?
- ☐ Actively reinforce classroom rules and manage the classroom together?

After the Co-Taught lesson, do we:

- ☐ Take time to reflect together on the Co-Teaching experience?
- ☐ Provide feedback to each other?
- ☐ Celebrate the process of Co-Teaching as well as the outcomes and successes?
- ☐ Make improvements based on what happened in the classroom?

Overall, do we:

- ☐ Explain the benefits of Co-Teaching to students and their families?
- ☐ Depend on one another to follow through on tasks and responsibilities?
- ☐ Both participate in parent-teacher conferences?
- ☐ Model collaboration and teamwork for our students?
- ☐ Have a process for dealing with our disagreements?
- ☐ Communicate with our Building Administrator and/or University/College Supervisor about our needs as a Co-Teaching team?

MPS CO-TEACHING STUDENT TEACHING MODEL EVALUATION GUIDELINES AND FORMS

Evaluation of the Teacher Candidate's work is carried on throughout the term for two main purposes. The first purpose is to provide meaningful feedback to the Teacher Candidate to improve teaching and learning. Through self evaluation and conferences in which the Cooperating Teacher and the University/College Supervisor offer evaluation of the work, the Teacher Candidate is helped to become a stronger teacher by identifying strengths and areas for growth.

The second purpose of the evaluation of the Teacher Candidate is to provide prospective employers an indication of the individual's growth throughout the semester and potential as a teacher. A grade is thus assigned to the Teacher Candidate and a recommendation is written to be placed in the individual's file at the teacher training institution's Teacher Placement Division. The University/College Supervisor has the final responsibility for giving the grade and making the recommendation. This should be done, however, with input from the Cooperating Teacher. The University/College Supervisor and Cooperating Teacher discuss the work of the Teacher Candidate throughout the term in order to determine final performance evaluation. The Cooperating Teacher will complete evaluation forms provided by the university/college.

Cooperating Teachers will complete the mid-term and final Teacher Candidate/Cooperating Teacher Reflection Form provided in this handbook. This is in addition to evaluation forms required by the university/college. While the university/college evaluation forms are used for grading and placement recommendation, the MPS reflection forms are used only for internal assessment of the Teacher Candidate's progress in the Millard School District.

The MPS evaluation report will resemble Millard's Teacher Evaluation process and will focus on five areas: planning, instruction, assessment, learning environment, and professionalism. The Millard Teacher Candidate Reflection Form asks for the Teacher Candidate to first reflect on each of the five areas and then for the Cooperating Teacher to add strengths and areas for growth.

MPS Teacher Candidate Reflection Forms can be used as often as deemed necessary by the Cooperating Teacher. A minimum of two reflections are to be sent to the Building Administrator and to Jeanine Beaudin in the Human Resources office, one at the midpoint and one at the end of the student teaching experience.

Millard Instructional Model

History of the Millard Instructional Model

The Millard Strategic Plan called for the development of an Instructional Model representing research on effective teaching. The first draft of the model was developed by a team of administrators and teachers in 1992. This draft was a hybrid of the staff development programs offered in Millard in the past ten years: Cooperative Learning, Thinking Skills, Learning Styles, ITIP, Advanced ITIP, Developing Independent Learners, Reading-Writing In-services.

Another charge from the Millard Strategic Plan was to create a new teacher evaluation process. A team of teachers and administrators was established to develop a new system. An important element of that system was the Instructional Model. Using the work of Dr. Ed Iwanicki from the University of Connecticut and the 1992 draft of the Instructional Model, a writing team of administrators and teachers formed the Indicators of Effective Teaching.

The Teacher Evaluation Team used a consensus process to complete and approve the final product. The Millard Education Association was involved in the creation of the Teacher Evaluation System and assured that the product met criteria for teacher evaluation established through state and national resolutions. The MEA Board of Directors, the Human Resources Division, the Curriculum Division, and the building principals reviewed the final document. The Millard Board of Education approved the plan for teacher evaluation on March 7, 1994.

The Teacher Evaluation System was updated in 2001 to reflect the District's staff development initiative in differentiated instruction and updated again in 2003 to reflect the district's growth in the integration of technology into instruction. The Millard Board of Education approved the updated Teacher Evaluation System in July 2001 and in June 2003.

In the summer of 2005, a group of Millard educators came together for a two day summer retreat to reflect on the following questions:

- o What does an effective teacher do to increase student achievement?
- o What are important decisions teachers must make to effectively instruct?
- o Why is successful classroom management vital to improved student achievement?
- o Can a district model of instruction increase student achievement?
- o Does student achievement increase when building administrators model effective instruction?

Based on this retreat and several meetings during the 2005-2006 school year, the Millard Instructional Model was revised to place more emphasis on "student learning." "Indicators of Effective Teaching" became "Practices That Promote Successful Student Learning."

We believe all teachers should consider the following four important questions:

- 1) What will students know and be able to do?
- 2) How will students learn it?
- 3) How do we know if students learned it?
- 4) What happens if students don't learn it or already know it?

Continuing the tradition of excellence in teaching and learning, a team of teachers, building and central office administrators, and Millard Education Association representatives worked together to again revise the Millard Instructional Model and the Teacher Evaluation System. This team worked through the 2013-14 school year to research, revise and develop a rubric. Communication and staff development plans will occur throughout 2014-2015, with implementation of the revised model beginning with the 2015-2016 school year.

The Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning, the 2014 revised Millard Instructional Model, marries the 2003 “Indicators of Effective Teaching” and the 2006 “Practices That Promote Successful Student Learning” and aligns with the 2013 Nebraska’s Performance Framework for Teachers. The Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning includes teacher evidence and student evidence as indicators of competency. It also allows for assessment of instruction on a scale rating to promote teacher reflection and continuous growth. For purposes of reflection, growth, and evaluation of teacher performance, the following rating scale is utilized:

Unsatisfactory	Little or no demonstration of Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning
Progressing	Limited or inconsistent demonstration of Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning
Proficient	Consistent demonstration of Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning
Distinguished	Consistent and exemplary demonstration of Indicators of Effective Teaching and Learning

In 2020-21 the Teacher Evaluation Committee revised the Millard Instructional Model. The revisions were based on changes to the Nebraska Teacher and Principal Performance Standards and feedback from stakeholders. Changes to our Millard Instructional Model are updated verbiage that includes cultural competency, more emphasis on different forms of assessment, and more language that aligns to our academic and behavior MTSS system.

In addition to the above changes, the committee also changed the number and language of our ratings scale. An evaluation system containing ratings classifications is required by the Nebraska Department of Education. Our committee research on ratings showed that a majority of rating systems have 4-5 categories. The committee agreed that a 5 level scale allows staff to make more incremental growth between classifications and is a better reflection of teacher effectiveness.

The new rating system includes:

- Ineffective - little or no demonstration of indicators
- Progressing - inconsistent demonstration of indicators
- Effective (Meets the Standard) - Consistent demonstration of some indicators
- Highly Effective - Consistent demonstration of all or most of the indicators
- Exemplary - Consistent demonstration of indicators to the highest degree. This classification is reserved for educators who have consistently far exceeded the indicator expectations and are seen as a model for the district.

Millard Instructional Model (MIM)

The purpose of the Millard Instructional Model is to ensure that each student understands, knows, and is able to demonstrate the learning specified in the Millard Education Program so that students meet the guarantee of the Millard Public Schools' Mission. The Millard Instructional Model is divided into five interdependent domains.

The Mission of the Millard Public Schools is to:

Guarantee each student demonstrates the character, knowledge, and skills necessary for personal excellence and responsible citizenship through an innovative, world-class educational community that engages and challenges all students

Co-Teaching Strategies & Examples

Strategy	Definition/Example
One Teach, One Observe	One teacher has primary instructional responsibility while the other gathers specific observational information on students or the (instructing) teacher. The key to this strategy is to focus the observation - where the teacher doing the observation is observing specific behaviors. Example: One teacher can observe students for their understanding of directions while the other leads.
One Teach, One Assist	An extension of One Teach, One Observe. One teacher has primary instructional responsibility while the other assists students' with their work, monitors behaviors, or corrects assignments. Example: While one teacher has the instructional lead, the person assisting can be the "voice" for the students when they don't understand or are having difficulties.
Station Teaching	The co-teaching pair divides the instructional content into parts. Each teacher instructs one of the groups, groups then rotate or spend a designated amount of time at each station. Often, an independent station will be used along with the teacher led stations. Example: One teacher might lead a station where the students play a money math game and the other teacher could have a mock store where the students purchase items and make change.
Parallel Teaching	Each teacher instructs half the students. The two teachers are addressing the same instructional material using the same teaching strategy. The greatest benefit to this approach is the reduction of student to teacher ratio. Example: Both teachers are leading a question and answer discussion on specific current events and the impact they have on our economy.
Supplemental Teaching	This strategy allows one teacher to work with students at their expected grade level, while the other teacher works with those students who need the information and/or materials extended or remediated. Example: One teacher may work with students who need reteaching of a concept while the other teacher works with the rest of the students on enrichment.
Alternative (Differentiated)	Alternative teaching strategies provide two different approaches to teaching the same information. The learning outcome is the same for all students; however, the avenue for getting there is different. Example: One instructor may lead a group in predicting prior to reading by looking at the cover of the book and the illustrations, etc. The other instructor accomplishes the same outcome but with his/her group, the students predict by connecting the items pulled out of the bag with the story.
Team Teaching	Well planned, team taught lessons, exhibit an invisible flow of instruction with no prescribed division of authority. Both teachers are actively involved in the lesson. From a student's perspective, there is no clearly defined leader. Both teachers share the instruction, are free to interject information, and available to assist students and answer questions. Example: Both instructors can share the reading of a story or text so that the students are hearing two voices.

The strategies are not hierarchical - they can be used in any order and/or combined to best meet the needs of the students in the classroom.

MILLARD PUBLIC SCHOOLS
REGULATIONS GOVERNING STUDENT TEACHING
Related to MPS Policy 4210

The following regulations have been developed by the Millard Public Schools. Each student teacher should become familiar with these regulations:

1) General Considerations

- a. The district will cooperate with colleges and universities by allowing students who are preparing to teach to devote a reasonable amount of time to training in our schools, provided that this training will in no way retard the satisfactory progress of pupils.
- a. Supervision of the program is the function of the Human Resources Recruiter. Administration of this program in the individual building is the responsibility of the principal.

2) Responsibilities of the Student Teacher

- a. To observe the rules and regulations of the Millard Public Schools wherever they apply. Most of these are specified in Board Policy 4000 of the Millard Public Schools. (BOARD POLICIES ARE FOUND ON THE MILLARD PUBLIC SCHOOLS' WEBSITE, www.mpsomaha.org. SELECT 'BOARD OF EDUCATION' ON THE FAR LEFT; CHOOSE THE 'BOARD POLICIES' TAB.) Each student teacher is expected to become familiar with these rules and regulations and with those which may be established for the particular building in which the student teaching is performed.
- b. To recognize that the primary responsibility is to the students, and to understand that nothing must interfere with carrying out this obligation.
- c. To observe standards of conduct as set forth by professional ethics and the requirements of good citizenship.
- d. To be prompt in reporting to class and regular in attendance. In case of illness or other unavoidable absence, to notify both the cooperating teacher and the building principal as far in advance as possible.
- e. As an observer-participant, to be regarded as the cooperating teacher's assistant and, subject to the approval of the cooperating teacher, to perform such tasks as are necessary to the proper functioning of the classroom. Illustrative of these tasks are helping with the housekeeping activities, roll taking, keeping attendance records, pronouncing spelling words, reading stories to children, watching ventilation and lighting, preparing bulletin boards, arranging chairs and desks, helping maintain equipment, correcting papers, helping individual students, and collecting teaching materials.
- f. To learn the names of the students as rapidly as possible and to gain information about each pupil, utilizing this observation, consulting with the cooperating teacher, school educational records, and other sources of information available, keeping all such information confidential.
- g. To participate in extracurricular and professional activities whenever possible, such as staff meetings, committee meetings, lunchroom duties, departmental and grade meetings, sports events, concerts, dances, parties and plays.
- h. To prepare adequate lesson plans well in advance of actual classroom teaching, and to submit such plans to the cooperating teacher.
- i. To learn the various physical facilities of the school building.
- j. To become acquainted with the Information Center and other resources available in the school system, such as audiovisual materials and the professional library, and with the resources of the community as they are related to the student teaching assignment.

- k. To learn the class schedule and the daily program followed by the cooperating teacher.
- l. To become acquainted with the work which will be done in the classroom during the year, even though it may not be directly related to student teaching.
- m. Even during periods of observation, to prepare each day so that the substitute teacher will be able to take over the class in an emergency, and to continuously identify with the work of the class and of the cooperating teacher.
- n. To be considered a member of the community in which the student teaching occurs, and to act accordingly.
- o. After each observation by the college supervisor, to arrange for a conference with the supervisor to discuss the classroom work observed.
- p. To accept the cooperating teacher's decisions concerning the material to be covered, the method of presentation, and the management of the classroom.
- q. To remember that the cooperating teacher is in legal control of the class and is legally responsible for it, and to assume no authority which has not been specifically delegated by that teacher.
- r. To refer tactfully all parental requests for pupil data or evaluation and pupil progress to the pupil's classroom teacher.
- s. To attend pre-student teaching conferences and seminars for orientation of prospective student teachers to the nature of their opportunities and responsibilities during student teaching in the Millard Public Schools.
- t. To participate in parent-teacher conferences as deemed necessary by cooperating teacher and building principal.
- u. To be neatly dressed and well groomed, setting an example for their students.

3) The Cooperating Teacher

Cooperating teachers are selected from the regular teachers of the Millard Public Schools.

A cooperating teacher is never selected without the sanction of all of the various school officials concerned.

It is the responsibility of the cooperating teacher:

- a. To recognize that the primary responsibility is to the pupil rather than to the student teacher and at all times be thoroughly informed concerning the work in progress and the development of the students.
- b. To define the student teachers' role in terms of their duties and responsibilities:
 - 1. To schedule a conference with the student teacher as early in the term as possible in order to clarify the role of the student teacher, especially with regard to classroom management.
 - 2. To provide ample opportunity for the student to observe the methods which are appropriate to the teaching situation.
 - 3. To help the student teacher develop a professional attitude in all contacts with school and community.
 - 4. To help the student teacher develop an understanding of the ethics of the profession.

5. To help the student teacher become acquainted with and adhere to the rules and regulations applicable to students and teachers in the school.
 6. To clarify the student teacher's responsibilities with respect to making lesson plans, securing and organizing appropriate materials, and other necessary activities.
 7. To take steps to insure that the student teacher understands the overall plans for the class and the Millard prescribed curriculum.
 8. To advise the student teacher well in advance of the time when responsibility for the class will be assumed so that adequate preparation for the unit(s) is made.
- c. To attend inservice programs specifically planned for teachers and administrators directly concerned with student teaching.
 - d. To remain in the classroom in order to insure adequate supervision of the student teacher. If the cooperating teacher must be out of the classroom for an extended period of time, the principal must be notified.
 - e. To insure that the student teacher's induction into actual teaching is at a rate which seems appropriate for each student teacher. The length of the initial period of observation will vary from student to student. During this period, and at other times when the student teacher is not directly accountable for management of the class, encouragement should be given to participate in helping individual students, small groups, and materials.
 - f. To become acquainted with the program of student teaching as outlined by the student teacher's respective training institution and Millard Public Schools.
 - g. To make certain that the student teacher has planned adequately before being permitted to teach.
 - h. To keep the student teacher informed of his/her progress, making suggestions and criticisms as necessary.
 - i. To evaluate the student teacher's performance. Cooperating teachers should consider the Millard's Instructional Model (MIM): Practices that Promote Successful Student Learning as they work with and evaluate student teachers.

4) Responsibilities of the University or College Supervisor

A university or college supervisor is assigned for each student teacher. This college faculty member is an experienced teacher and supervisor of student teachers.

- a. To assist the student teacher in the planning and execution of the assignment.
- b. To consult with cooperating teachers regarding the student teachers under their direction as early as possible in the semester and thereafter whenever desirable.
- c. To make sufficient visits to each student teacher to insure adequate supervision and evaluation, and to hold a conference with the student teacher as soon as possible after each observation. The supervisor should visit the student teaching situation at least four times during the term.
- d. To hold periodic group meetings with their student teachers so that problems of mutual concern may be discussed and for such other purposes as are necessary to carry out proper supervision of their student teachers.

- e. To be responsible for designating the grade for student teaching.
- f. To be available to consult with cooperating teachers when necessary.
- g. To make arrangements with the building principal prior to classroom visitations.

5) Responsibilities of the School Principal

- a. Orienting the staff and the school community to the student teachers and the student teaching program.
- b. To observe student teachers at work and confer with them individually or in groups concerning the philosophy of the school and acquaint them with special services provided for children.
- c. To approve or reject any cooperating teacher or student teacher assigned to the school.
- d. To terminate a student teacher when it is evident that the welfare of the student is being adversely affected. Notice of termination will be submitted to the Human Resources Recruiter who will inform the college supervisor of the action taken.
- e. To review the Student Teacher's Evaluation Report which will be kept on file in the Board of Education office.
- f. To make possible a program of direct experience for student teachers through which they may be guided toward a better understanding of what constitutes good teaching.
- g. To make possible a sharing of experiences which will give the student teacher an overall view of the total school program.
- h. To make available written materials relative to basic policies of the school system and any bulletins clarifying the philosophy of the school and the organization of the curriculum.
- i. To indicate which staff meetings, professional meetings and committee meetings are open to student teachers and to invite them to attend.
- j. To facilitate the acceptance of student teachers by the faculty of the school in which they are doing their student teaching, to encourage them to attend parent/teacher and similar meetings, and to permit them to use faculty rooms and faculty lunch facilities.

6) Responsibilities of the University and College

- a. To make available a Director of Student Teaching
- b. To make available to the principal, Human Resources Recruiter and cooperating teacher, information about the student's background, ability and preference.
- c. To provide supervisors who will visit with the student teachers regularly and will be available for conferences with the cooperating teacher and the student.
- d. To provide a student teaching handbook and handbook for cooperating teachers.

7) Responsibilities of the Director of Student Teaching

- a. To be the liaison person between the college and the Millard Public Schools on all aspects of the teacher training program.

- b. To assign all student teachers so that they will have the best possible chance of becoming successful teachers. This means that careful consideration must be given to the adequacy of the student teachers' subject matter and professional preparation to their personalities, and to the personality of the cooperating teacher. Placing students in student teaching situations when they are poorly prepared is forbidden.
- c. To make arrangements with the principal for all observations.
- d. To confer with the Human Resources Recruiter concerning the placement and induction of the student teacher.
- e. To coordinate research in the area of teacher preparation.
- f. To offer inservice classes for cooperating teachers.
- g. To make college supervisor's assignments.
- h. To provide orientation of student teachers.
- i. To be involved in student teacher evaluation.

8) Selection of Cooperating Teachers

- a. Cooperating teachers shall be selected cooperatively by the Human Resources Recruiter of the Millard Public Schools, the school principal, and by the Director of Student Teaching of the institution concerned.
- b. A person who is selected as a cooperating teacher will possess personal and professional qualities in addition to those required for effective teaching. Not all superior teachers have the ability to work well in helping a college student become a teacher.

The teacher selected to work with student teachers should be a person who:

- 1. Has a minimum of three years of successful classroom teaching in the district; however, experienced teachers in the district for less than three years may be considered.
- 2. Has preparation for teaching to include a Bachelor's Degree, accumulated hours toward a Master's Degree, and a regular teaching certificate.
- 3. Has a teaching endorsement in the area involved.
- 4. Shows genuine professional interest and growth.
- 5. Understands and can demonstrate application of basic principles of effective teaching and learning.
- 6. Is willing and able to guide the progress of the student teacher.
- 7. Has the courage to give a frank evaluation of the student teacher and to those who share the responsibility for the experience.
- 8. Exhibits a high level of professional ethics.

c. Method of Assignment

1. All requests for assignments to student teaching will be made by the teacher education institution to the Human Resources Recruiter.
2. The Human Resources Recruiter will consult with the principal in whose building the student is to be placed. No student teacher will be assigned to a building without approval from the principal.
3. The student teacher will report to the principal of the school to which he/she is assigned and be introduced to the cooperating teacher.
4. On the secondary level, student teachers may be assigned to departments, with one teacher in the department being designated as the cooperating teacher. This type of assignment will permit the student teacher to have a broader experience in his/her teaching field.
5. No more than one student teacher should be assigned to a cooperating teacher during any academic year, unless recommended by the supervisor of that cooperating teacher.

9) Stipends for Cooperating Teachers

- a. The cooperating teacher and/or principal are not to be paid directly by the university. If money is sent to the cooperating teacher or principal, the checks need to be turned over to the district which sends it to the MPS Foundation for teacher scholarships.

NOTICE OF NONDISCRIMINATION

The Millard School District does not unlawfully discriminate with regard to race, color, religion, national or ethnic origin, sex, marital status, age, or disability in the access to, benefits of, or participation in employment, educational programs or activities. Any person having questions or complaints concerning discrimination may contact the Board of Education Office at 715-8200.
